“ So sorry for your loss.

Amy had such a heart for God, always showing His love and compassion toward others, always reaching out to help someone get closer to Him.

I remember some wonderful times we shared together with my kids years ago. We went hiking and camping and had such fun. We got a little lost hiking in the Berkshires once; that was a great adventure.

I will miss you, my friend.

“ I am saddened since I received the news of my best friends passing. Amy and I go as far back as elementary school. We have been best friends since junior high. We've been roommates a few times and she was my maid of honor. My daughter charity, has known Amy most of her life. Amy has met my Grandchildren. Through the years we have been each other's confidant and counsel. We have laughed together, had our spats, laughed over those spats and many many late night talks. Whenever I think of Amy, I picture her laughing. I am going to miss my friend.

Amy had a heart of gold. She was kind, compassionate, understanding and thoughtful. She loved the Lord. She brought joy to a lot of peoples and touched many lives with her kindness and faith. She was stronger then she gave herself credit for and more loved then she knew. It is comforting to know I will see my friend again. She will be missed by all. My condolences to her family and friends.

“ I am so sorry to hear of Amy's passing. I have known her for 34 years, she was a wonderful person and held a special place in my heart. Despite her many challenges I will always remember Amy in her finer moments...she was a caring, compassionate, thoughtful person who cared for people, especially those who were less fortunate. She had a strong love and dedication for Her Lord. And because of it Amy has lead many people to faith - she was bold and unashamed in sharing her faith. These are just some of the memories I will treasure as I remember Amy. Rest In Peace my dear friend - you are Free. With much love , Barbara Macias

“ I am so sorry to hear of Amy's passing. I am a fitness instructor and her dedication was an inspiration. She always was so pleasant. The difficulties she had and yet she would focus and always did an amazing super awesome job. I was missing her in class and wondered where she was then approximately three weeks ago she showed up to class. I greeted her and was so happy to see her. She explained she had been in the hospital. I was so happy to see her and just advised her to take it slow on her first day back. She had left her spin shoes in a bag and somehow someone took it. I did not know what she was sick from. As I was starting class she was right by my side and I remembered I had a old pair of old spin shoes and asked her size and it would likely fit her and explained when class is over I will see if I still have them in the car and give them to her. She left a little early and did not get the chance to give her the shoes even though I brought them back to class the following week. I am so sad that I did not get to give her those spin shoes. I know she faithfully came to spin and when she did not show up for a few weeks after her return to the hospital it was concerning to me. I asked the class if anyone had seen her but no one had seen her since that day. She never gave excuses and always showed up and even if she couldn't do something she modified and kept on going. What an inspiration to all. She will always live in my heart for she had many challenges but yet she did not let them get in the way of her determination and will to fight the challenges she faced. Amy was so inspiring and if everyone put in the effort that Amy did we would have some endless awesome results! Amy's efforts surpassed an ordinary healthy person. Her effort and enthusiasm was so inspirational and contagious! Inspired by all you did with all your obstacles! I will miss your smile, energy, and inspiration.

May God comfort her family and friends void and remember to inspire others as Amy has done and you will have her live in your hearts forever ♀ Fitness Instructor Sue Cabral
