

Dayle Hathaway Turner

January 15, 2018

Dayle Hathaway Turner, of Assonet, MA, died peacefully at the Fall River Jewish Home, on January 15, 2018.

Predeceased by her parents, James Francis McCauley and Doris French McCauley, of Assonet, she leaves behind her sister, Jayne (McCauley) Rodriguez and her husband Tim Rodriguez, of Virginia Beach, VA, three children, Penelope Leuchtag of Houston, Texas, Sally V. Turner of Barrington, RI, Richard B. Turner, Jr., of Bristol, RI, two grandchildren, Joshua R. Leuchtag and Ilana D. Leuchtag, both of Houston, TX, and four nieces and nephews.

A graduate of the Mary C. Wheeler school and the Katharine Gibbs school, Dayle spent the majority of her life in and around Assonet.

A private memorial service will be held in the Spring. All arrangements have been entrusted to the care of the Hathaway Home for Funerals, 1813 Robeson Street, Fall River.

“ Dear Jayne, Sally, and Turner Family.

My deepest sympathy on Dayle's passing. She was a wonderful woman. I remember her fondly along with all my Assonet cousins. Recently I found a picture of Dayle pouring tea for an event at my aunt Audrey Buckingham's house.

Know that although she is no longer with you in person, she will live on in your heart and recollections.

Please extend my condolences to all the family members.

“ Dear Jayne and Turner Family,

I am sorry to see in the news the passing of your Sister / Mother. My sympathies to all of you. I'm sure she will be missed by all. I always feel the deceased loved one is at peace, no pain, bad thoughts or anything to haunt them. We will always miss our loved one but time, thoughts of happy events, sayings or quirky habits will make you smile and time will march on.

My Mom has been gone for twenty years and yes, I still miss her. As I age I look in the mirror and she looks back at me as I worry about the same wrinkles as she did and I laugh a bit.

Again my sympathies to all of you.
