“ This is my favorite picture I have of Uncle Eddie. Look at that great smile! When I think about him I always picture his smile and hear that infectious laugh he had. I always loved talking about the spy novels he was fond of reading and trading stories of our times in the Marine Corps. He was one of the nicest and most self-sacrificing people I've ever met and he was a positive influence in my life. I will always be grateful for that. I miss him, but I know he's always with me and I'll see him again one day. I love you Uncle Eddie and Semper Fi!

“ Of all the great memories I have of Eddie, one stands out for me. It was when he decided to go fishing with me under the Brightman street bridge. Bobby and Roger know how we got to the pier. there were 7 or 8 pipes (about 6 inches in diameter) that we would run across to get to the pier. When we climbed up to the pipes Eddie asked how we were going to get to the pier. I told him we were going to run on these pipes and i took off. When i got to the pier i turned to tell him what side we would fish I didn't see him. i climbed back up to look for him and saw him crawling on his hands and knees. To his credit he made it all the way out and when we were done he crawled all the way back. He then let me know he would never do that again.

I'm missing my fishing partner

“ My Uncle Eddie gave me my first job at his restaurant when I was 14 years old. Had some of the best times talking with him and learning various things. He was one of the smartest people I ever knew. Could fix copy machines at Aetna with paper clips and cardboard. He was a kind soul and was always looking out for others. Always had time to stop and talk about any subject. He loved spending time with the family, whether talking about his days in the Marines, cutting up with Memere, Pepere, Uncle Bobby or going to flea markets with Auntie Claire and Karen. I know that I'm a better person today due to the time I spent with Uncle Eddie and Auntie Claire.

“ Eddie,

I was blessed to have you as a father in-law. Over the years you were like a father to me. I'll always cherish the times we shared together. All the birthdays, holidays, and our usual Saturday get togethers. I'll always remember all of the great conversations we've had. I will think of you often and will miss you VERY much. Thanks for your help over the years, you were always an inspiration to me. May God bless you!

Love,
